

Today
Fairly Peaceful May 1st
Children and Mothers
The Party is On
The Highest Building

By Arthur Brisbane
MAY 1st, which is labor's day in Europe, devoted to the wrongs of the proletariat, passed off quite peacefully abroad, VERY peacefully at home.

There were slightly unpleasant demonstrations here and there abroad, one policeman shot in Berlin, one killed and 17 hurt in Barcelona, most agitated parts of Spain.

The Red flag was waving. Russia shut down work completely to celebrate in a great May Day celebration the apparent success of the five-year plan.

Here it was business as usual, but business as is usual in a depression and not too exciting.

Yesterday, as Mrs. Aida De Amata Breckenridge reminds you, was also Children's Day, devoted to their health.

Sixteen million children under six years of age, in the United States, represent the future of the nation. What happens to them will happen to the United States. Whatever is good for them is good for the United States.

Twenty-seven million, one hundred thousand children are in our elementary and secondary schools and kindergartens. If the government could take as much, and as successful as its interest in young children as it takes in young calves, pigs and colts, through the agricultural department, millions of children that now die would live.

And as for the mothers of American children, after we have finished taking care of our factories and other "sources of production," some attention might be paid to the mothers.

The White House conference on child health and protection showed the death rate among mothers in this country to be higher than in 25 of the other largest nations in the world. It is higher than in any other civilized country.

Fifteen thousand mothers died in childbirth, in 1928, and 80,000 infants were born so weak that their lives lasted less than a month or two.

The majority of these deaths could be prevented, and preventing them would be worth while.

The party is on, politically speaking. Governor Roosevelt, who expects to be nominated by the Democrats in 1932, and very probably will be nominated, attacks President Hoover in the good old way.

He says President Hoover's administration is "timorous," says our national administration is geared to the slow pace of 90 years ago, and the people look to the Democratic ticket to lead the way back to basic principles.

Anybody might be a little "timorous" carrying responsibility for the country's welfare in the slump following a war, with its killing millions and its spending of billions.

In one respect we may congratulate ourselves, as Mr. Frederick H. Ecker remarked yesterday. We have come through two years of hard times, with conditions such as has not been known since 1873. And it has not been necessary, anywhere, to call out army, militia or police.

Yesterday's New York event was the formal opening of the Empire State Building.

President Hoover presided at a luncheon in Washington that turned on the light of the world's tallest structure, at 340 ft. and Fifth ave.

Governor Roosevelt, of New York, was there to make a speech, and be photographed.

Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith presided at the formal opening, with two of his little granddaughters to help him. He is the head man of the building.

Mr. Ecker, head of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, was there, also a head man, holding a mortgage of more than $25,000,000.

The building is 1240 feet high, 240 feet higher than the Eiffel Tower, in Paris; more than twice the height of the Tower of Babel, with more languages spoken near it.

Capt. Frank Hawks, champion American flier, with no rival in sight, having broken the world's record from London to Rome, from Rome to Paris, and from Paris to London, has now broken the record from London to Dublin, having flown, in a little more exercise, he flew 400 miles around Ireland in two hours. The two-way flight is representative work while.

During the year ending June 30, foreign nations will pay the United States on account of $2,000,000,000, a good deal of money. But it is small drop in the bucket. We have 8,000,000 men idle. Their time is worth 53 a day. If they were working their earnings would amount to nine hundred million dollars a year ($900,000,000).

The big problem is to get back to work. How can it be done? There is a chance for wisdom.

TWO FIREMEN ARE HURT; WOMAN'S RESCUED
Even Families Driven Out in Three-Alarm Tenement Fire in Roxbury

Two firemen were critically injured, one woman was rescued, and seven families driven to the street in a three alarm fire which swept through a congested tenement building at Shawmut ave. and Ruggles st., Roxbury, today.

The injured firemen are Edward Whelan and Dennis Newman of Engine company 37, At City Hospital; Whelan, who fell through an airshaft, was said to have an injured back, a possible skull fracture, and severe lacerations.

Newman, injured in a fall down a flight of stairs in the dense smoke, sustained a possible skull fracture, lacerations and burns about the face and head.

The fire was discovered by Fireman William Lannigan of Engine Company 28 on his way home after a long shift at his station. Lannigan turned in an alarm and rushed through the building, arousing the occupants, many of whom fled—

WOMAN SAVED DOG
After the residents on the lower floors had reached the street Lannigan found Mrs. Ellen Brooks in her third-floor apartment groping for the stairway. Lannigan attempted to carry her to the street, but she refused to leave until she got her dog, left in the bedroom.

Mrs. Brooks suffered from shock. The dog was taken to the Animal Rescue League's hospital to be treated for smoke inhalation.

The origin of the fire is undetermined. It is believed to have started on the second floor. It had gained rapid headway through the building before the apparatus arrived and on second and third floors were necessary because of the inflammable construction of the thickly populated district.

FIREMEN BATTLE PANIC
According to Lannigan, the appearance of smoke billowing from the roof led him to believe that a fire was on the roof.

LOVE TRAPBEL CAUSES ARREST OF GAY

Jilted Girl Provides South End Raid Tip; the Slayer Is Known to Police

Four youths being held as rascals persons in connection with the murder of James M. Kiley, Somerville gasoline station manager, sang "My Wild Irish Rose" today as police were attempting to decide which one they would kill first.

Later today, after two of the youths had been questioned and placed back at the station, Chief of Police Thomas DeWary, informed of their vocal performance, remarked:

"They will be singing a different tune by Monday."

The chief declared that within the next 48 hours that he felt certain that he would be able to make public the names of the persons involved in the Kiley slaying.

It also became known today that the tip leading to the detection of four men was given to the police by a girl friend of one of the men after a lovers' quarrel.

The girl tipster lives in Somerville, and as a result of her information Somerville officers had been searching the South End for more than a week before the present group were seized.

Persons who witnessed the murder of Kiley were present in Boston police headquarters today and viewed the four men.

At the conclusion of the identification attempts a conference was held between Chief of Detectives Edward Shanley and State Detective Edward Sherlock and Joseph O'Neil.

'Women Worst Drivers'—Parker

By FRANKLIN COLLIER

FOR THE DEFENSE

SO, REGISTAR PARKER SAYS WOMEN ARE THE WORST DRIVERS! THAT'S RIGHT! BLAME US WOMEN! HE'S JUST DOING THAT TO GET BACK AT ME BECAUSE I DROVE OUT ON A SIDE STREET AND HIT MY RADIATOR WITH THE SIDE OF HIS CAR! ALL HIS FAULT! AND HE SAID HE RAN INTO HIM!

WHAT A THING TO SAY ABOUT US GIRLS! I WONDER HOW GOOD AT DRIVING MR. PARKER IS? I MAY HAVE BEEN IN SEVEN ACCIDENTS SINCE LAST JULY, BUT IT WAS THE OTHER DRIVER'S FAULT EVERY TIME, AND GENERALLY IT WAS A MAN!

WELL, YOU WERE NOT! YOU WERE NOT! YOU WERE NOT!

AREN'T THE MEN SUPPOSED TO LOOK WHERE THEY ARE GOING? SOME OF THEM EXPECT A WOMAN TO GET WAY OVER ON THE RIGHT OF THE ROAD TO LET THEM PASS. YOU THINK THEY'VE GOT THE HIGHWAY. THEY ALWAYS INSIST ON TALKING THEIR RIGHT OF WAY.

WHAT A LIE!! HE MUST HAVE HEARD MY HUSBAND SAY THAT AND THOUGHT IT WAS A SMART REMARK. POOR TSK! TSK!

of the losses until the audit of every bank is completed.

George W. Mastaglio, Jr., associate of Vaughan, will not be allowed to become a member of the Massachusetts bar until the probe into the affairs of Vaughan is completed.

Mastaglio has passed the state bar examinations and was endorsed by both Vaughan and Frederick Warner, who has been appointed temporary receiver to succeed Vaughan. The action was taken by Hollis R. Bailey, chairman of the board of examiners, after he had been notified of Mastaglio's connection with the case by Atty-Gen. Warren.

FOLEY TO PRESENT FACTS—Dist. Atty. William J. Foley will present evidence against Vaughan in the Suffolk County grand jury case week.

The petition of Frederick D. Honner to the Supreme Court for the appointment of receiver for Vaughan's personal affairs has been taken under advisement by Judge George A. Anderson.

Vaughan's Neglect—Hites Many in Need—The disappearance of Guy L. Vaughan, missing receiver for five banks, whose activities are under probe by the state and three counties, has brought tragedy into many homes.

The Nonantum Civic Association prime mover in the beginning of investigations now under way, is still actively engaged in attempting to recover the money of depositors in the Nonantum Bankers, Inc.

The association has received acknowledgment from Governor Ely of the resolution sent seeking his assistance in the recovery of the funds. The governor promised he would do his utmost to untangle the affairs and secure an early dividend.

In the Nonantum district, many friends and neighbors of the depositors have withdrawn their accounts from other banks. Many are keeping their money secreted in their homes.

Trusting stories continue to creep up in Nonantum as a result of the bank's absence.

The case of Nicholas Iadoniti, 31, of Summer St., Newton, has gained widespread sympathy. The old man was a shoemaker but was compelled to retire, due to illness, some 20 years ago. His wife supported him by working on a farm in Watertown.

By her industry she managed to take a divorce from Edward Livingston Burrill, Jr.

Catherine Stone Hoyt, another New York social leader, filed a case against Richard Farnsworth Hoyt.

Dorothy Draper, interior decorator, sued George Draper.

Ruth Leyland de Rham of New York asked a divorce from William de Rham.

Other cases filed were Ernest Henth of Della Henth, Inc. of Winterburg, Walter H. Winterburg, Luther Blue Schillack and Florence Schillack, Eleanor Biaggi and Eugene N. Biaggi, Arthur E. German and Edna Engerman and Margaret James Littlefield and Henry Littlefield.

Unless one stood at the clerk's desk alongside the queue of attorneys waiting to file from 1 to 14 cases each and made specific inquiries, the titles of the cases could not be obtained. It appeared likely the register of actions would not be available until the office was open in the evening.

TRIALS BEGIN MONDAY—Trial of the uncounted cases among the two or three hundred it was expected would be filed, will begin Monday.

They will be heard ten minutes apart on Monday and Tuesday, and even Wednesday and Thursday if the judges find themselves swamped. The two judges expect to try a minimum of six cases an hour each. If the jurors work ten hours each next Monday they can hear 120 cases, and if they maintain the same schedule on Tuesday they expect to clean up the big rush of new cases.

Not all the cases filed, however, are ready for trial.

Six Priests Deported—Mexico City, May 2 (AP)—Disputes from Vera Cruz today said six Spanish priests were deported to Spain today and several Dutch priests for having violated the constitutional provision prohibiting foreign priests from officiating in Mexico.

GO WOODSMEN SEARCH FOR KAUFMAN

If Rubber Magnate's Body Is Not Found in 2 Weeks, Hunt Will Be Abandoned

Jackman, Me., May 2—Belief that Mitchell B. Kaufman, missing Malden rubber magnate, is dead his body will be found in the woods near the Crocker pond hunting camp within a few days was expressed today by James H. Murtha, expert woodsman in charge of the search.

Before returning to the woods today Murtha expressed the opinion that Kaufman died there, perhaps, after from an accidental discharge of his hunting rifle, or from exposure after becoming lost in the dense forest.

What is described as the last effort to find the body of Kaufman is now under way. It will be pushed for the next two weeks. At present, the search is being made in the woods near the Crocker pond hunting camp which was found by James H. Murtha, expert woodsman in charge of the search.

The search is being carried on under orders of Albert H. Wrentham, brother-in-law of Kaufman, who was at a cost in excess of $300 a day. The search is being carried on in the woods near the Crocker pond hunting camp which was found by James H. Murtha, expert woodsman in charge of the search.

Woodmen have established themselves in tents in the woods and in abandoned hunting camps. STILL HAS HOPE

Measurable in her Brookline home Mrs. Rebecca Kaufman, 70, mother of the missing man, is hopeful that her son will be found. Convinced that he must be dead, she is anxious to have his body found so she can bring it back to Massachusetts.

She would only find Mitchell's body if it was found in the woods where he was last seen. She said today, "It is terrible to wait so long for my son. He is only 30 from him. I hope that the woodmen find him soon."

CORNER CALLS KIRK MURDER CASE CLOSED

Hamden Official Announces He Will Report That She Was Slain by Wetmore

Hamden, Ct., May 2—Coroner James J. Corrigan announced today that the investigation of the murder of Emily Kirk was closed and that he would report she was slain by William Wetmore.

Wetmore, a relative by marriage, killed the girl because she refused to elope with him, according to Corrigan.

The Boston Evening American was the first to announce, three days ago, that Wetmore's suicide solved the mystery.

Corrigan had limited deep disappointment at the failure to find the revolver with which the girl was killed, but he said it was a Southern relic, but pointed out that death was the end of the matter.

It was revealed today that police search of the home of another girl, known to have been friendly with Wetmore, and found a caliber .38 revolver, but this was eliminated because the rust on it showed it was not the one used in the murder.

WOMAN MISSING IN VAUGHAN

Vaughan came from what was described as a reliable source, and investigators believe them hitting a foreign country, well-supplied with funds.

WITH HER IN CAPITAL—The search for Vaughan switched to foreign lands with the sending out of $500 circulars bearing the missing bank official's photograph and description. Hundreds of these circulars were mailed to foreign countries and they instructed the local police to keep a close watch on the missing man.

On a charge of larceny and holding a woman in custody, the woman was found with Vaughan was being carefully guarded today by Dist. Atty. Frank G. Volpe of Middlesex.

While admitting that he had received many anonymous tips on Vaughan the last few days, Dist. Atty. Volpe declared that the information that a woman had fled with Vaughan was not anonymous.

He admitted that he did not know the identity of the woman, although she was from Greater Boston. His information was that the woman had accompanied Vaughan from Boston to the hotel in London where the missing bank receiver had disappeared on March 10.

Volpe said as far as he knew the woman was not connected with Vaughan in any of his receiver ships or other work. He added that more information on the phase of the case might be forthcoming next week.

LOST SET AT $150,000—Asst. Dist. Atty. Volpe after a conference with Atty-Gen. Warren, set the loss of the five banks through Vaughan at $250,000. He said, in his opinion, the funds of all have been lost and depositors must depend on Vaughan's bonds amounting to $150,000.

Regarding the amount of the bonds, Frederick D. Honner, appointed receiver in place of Vaughan by the Superior Court, stated today:

"In view of the conflicting opinions appearing in the press as to the alleged shortage in the Vaughan receiver accounts, a new state that Francis F. Kirk & Co., verified public accountants, are conducting the audit with reference to all the charges made by the state."

"No definite statement can be made concerning the total amount

WILD ANIMALS TAMED AND TRAINED IN NASHUA, N.H., TO DO CIRCUS STUNTS

Two baby elephants having a grand time as children of John T. Benson, a employee pal with them at the wild animal farm, where more than 20,000 people visit during the week-ends of summer months. It's a great sight to see the young animals as they are being trained for circus and show life. The elephants hail from India. Un-crating new arrivals and crating animals going out of the farm is seen at every hand.

How would you like this job? One of the experts under the guiding hand of Mr. Benson is teaching tricks to the burro so that he may be well-fitted for sale to circus owners. The burro is taught the spirit of play—then tricks.

Mr. Benson operates American distribution station of the firm of Carl Hagenbach, Hamburg, Germany. Would you imagine that 2000 monkeys inhabit this farm? 140 more snakes are due in a few days.

SQUEEGEE OUT IN COLORS SOON

Squegee, the Crown Prince of Happiness, will make his bow in Boston shortly in a new role, that of movie star.

The rotund little dream pirate, hitherto known to the public as a character in animated cartoons, will have his own picture in color designed as the Perfect Living Fairy Tale, to delight children.

His creator, T. Crawford Hill, told the Boston Evening American his plans to make it the most beautiful production ever given for children, as well as being educational and clean.

Hill, who has taken a leading part in the production of two other popular animated cartoons, "Mickey, the Mouse," and "Silly Symphonies," sails for London a week from Saturday to confer with Sir James Barrie, famous author of "Peter Pan," about Squegee.

Squegee, known as the Crown Prince of Happiness, is dedicated to orphaned and crippled children, and one-third of the proceeds derived from his appearances goes to aid them.

Hill, his creator, up to two and a half years was a newspaper cartoonist whose "stuffy" appeared through a syndicate in many cities. He has two major ambitions. One is to start a Squegee fund which will result in a bird being endowed in every child's hospital, and the other is to do "Maxfield Parrish stuff" on the screen.

In an animated cartoon the music is written first, and the characters are then drawn to fit, after which they are synchronized. There are more than 10,000 drawings in eight minutes of screen time.

Hill said the picture will be given a country-wide release in September or October.

BENSON FARM LIKE JUNGLE

By A STAFF CORRESPONDENT
Nashua, N. H., May 2.—Six elephants, seven giraffes and 2000 monkeys.

The order was placed with no more formality than is displayed by the average housewife in ordering groceries.

It was a transaction that involved thousands of dollars, but the most interesting feature was that the jungle specimens were to add to the stock on a New England farm.

New England industries are numerous and varied, but few are as unique as that conducted by John T. Benson on the outskirts of this city.

The Benson Wild Animal Farm is the clearing house in America for the firm of Carl Hagenbach of Hamburg, Germany, largest importer and exporter of wild animals in the world.

Mr. Benson is the chief representative of Hagenbach in the United States.

Let a motorist who paused to visit the Benson Wild Animal Farm while en route to the White Mountains finish the story:

"It looks like any ordinary farm as you approach it. There is a colonial house. Everything reaches the barn yard the surprise begins. Then you realize that you are in the middle of a marvelous zoo. You are thrilled to be suddenly transported into such an unexpected atmosphere.

ALL SORTS OF CREATURES
"There are all sorts of creatures caged in the yard, animals and birds. The yard is surrounded by buildings teeming with the finest specimens. Turning corner you behold hundreds of monkeys of all species sporting in the open air and sunshine. Down the field an elephant is pulling a plow. Another is carrying a huge log.

"Lions, tigers and panthers are found in the barn instead of customary domestic animals. That gives one another kick. You pass to a bungalow where a young woman is training chimpanzees. There is a building filled with huge snakes. The attendant told us a shipment of 140 snakes was scheduled to arrive soon from India.

"There is an open air circus ring where an attendant was teaching a clownish baboon to play a violin. He hoed about, 'Up, Up, Attie boy! Now hold it!' and turning sent a determined chap leaping a quartet of young lions circus stunts.

THOUSANDS OF GOLDFISH
"In a four-acre pasture on the right were peacefully grazing Indian buffaloes, camels, zebras and Rocky Mountain goats. There are ponds alive with specimens of water fowl. There are ponds stocked with thousands of goldfish. These are hatched in the fun playing with baby elephants. Benson, hale and hearty, is a walking encyclopedia when it comes to bird and animal life and he makes a liden host. He told us he entertains as many as 25-30 visitors a week-end in fine weather.

"He told us two beautiful giraffes had just arrived from East Africa; that 2000 more monkeys had just left Port Said in excellent condition; that Allen Bachrach, his monkey specialist, goes into the jungle to select specimens, and that employee children at the farm have great

CAPONE SOUGHT IN SLAYING

Chicago, May 2 (AP)—Alphonse Capone, the gang chief, was sought today by State's attorney's detectives for questioning in connection with their inquiry into the death of a man whose charred body they believed to be that of "Mike De Pike" Heitler, pioneer racketeer. The body was found last Thursday in the ruins of an icehouse near Harrison, Ill.

The police also arrested at his home "Dago" Lawrence Mangano, reputed operator of a Capone vice, gambling and liquor syndicate. Although they failed to find the gang chief, four of his henchmen were arrested. They were Louis Russo, brother of "Machine Gun Jack" McGurn, Phila. Andrea, Fred Rossi and Tony Capello.

"We will raid everywhere until we drive out every hoodlum from Chicago," Roche said. "That means Capone, too."

Tramp's Murderer Dies on Guillotine

Regensburg, Germany, May 2 (INS)—Kurt Tetzner, found guilty of murdering a tramp in an unsuccessful plot to collect insurance on his own life, went to his death on the guillotine today. Tetzner killed the tramp on an isolated road, placed the body in his car and set fire to it. He hoped the body would be identified as his own, and had arranged with his wife to collect the insurance money.

Marooned British Explorer Sought

Reykjavik, Iceland, May 2 (AP)—Search for Augustus Courtyard, British explorer marooned on the Greenland ice cap, was being made today by land, by sea and by air. Capt. Albin Ahrensberg, Swedish flier, landed here last night after a flight from Bergen, Norway, by way of the Faroe Islands. He hoped to resume his flight today.

Couple, Wed for 64 Years, Celebrate

Leominster, Mass., May 2 (AP)—Mrs. Lucius M. Cook today observed their 64th wedding anniversary. Mr. Cook, a Civil War veteran, is 83 years, and his wife 83. Both are in good health. They are natives of Northboro.

FATHER KILLS 3 SONS, SELF GETS CITY KEY

Garfield, N. J., May 2 (AP)—John Lubbock, a confectioner in Pleasanton, returned to his home here today, went into the room where his three sons were sleeping, shot each of them in the head and then turned the gun on himself.

The youngest, John, Jr., 4, was dead when police arrived and the father died several hours later. The other children, Arthur, 11, and Emil, 12, died later in a hospital.

The mother was the only member of the family not slain. She was sleeping in an adjoining room. Her husband, said police, had been worried by lack of business.

The king has completed many of the engagements which have been made for him, and he plans to rest as much as possible in preparation for the operation May 10 to remove a cancerous from his left eye.

RUDE HIJACKERS 'BAWLED OUT'

Worcester, May 2.—Four armed men interrupted Stanley Kokernak and his family at breakfast today in their home on Plantation street, stole a quantity of alcohol in this, according to Kokernak's report to the police.

They knocked at the back door and when a 15-year-old girl answered, showed their guns at her and backed her into the kitchen.

Kokernak said he took them into the front room and "bawled them out" for disturbing his family, instead of doing business on the highway, like polite hijackers. Then one fired a shot past his ear into the wall, and he led them to the alcohol.

Questioned later by newspapermen as to the value of the alcohol, Kokernak, who is an ex-policeman of Webster, insisted nobody had called but the milkman. Several other "alcohol" cases, all on the highway, have been reported recently.

SQUEEGEE COMING TO HUB

T. Crawford Hill, creator of Squegee, the Crown Prince of Happiness, teased his pen around to introduce Squegee to Boston. You see the happy star of animated cartoons posing in the drawing board of Tommy Hill. Squegee is coming to Boston in his own picture, in which Squegee makes good.

Boston University theologians are looking forward to a summer campaign which may take them across the country in search of 5,000,000 citizens willing to sign a total abstinence pledge card. They will work under Clarence True Wilcox.

Kirby Page and his World Tomorrow have been after American clergymen to find out what these pastors think of war. A questionnaire was sent out to 30,000 Protestant ministers asking them if they would support another war, and whether they would act again in the capacity as chaplains. Returns apparently show that a large number of ministers are at the present time ready to sign a boycott against any more international or international conflicts; 13,000 out of 15,000 who responded gave such answers.

The questionnaire was prepared by Dr. Cadman, Dr. Froelich, Daniel Poling, Nevins Bayler and others. The questionnaire was prepared by Dr. Cadman, Dr. Froelich, Daniel Poling, Nevins Bayler and others.

UNIVERSARY SERVICES FOR TOMORROW

With Dudley Street Church celebrating its five score years and its birthday, and with Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher holding his first birthday at Tremont Temple, Baptists in Boston will be joined by many other churches in a series of religious services and consultations.

Young Methodists are still discussing a ringing message delivered to them by Dr. William L. Budge at Ford Hall last Monday evening. The doctor told the Epworth League and others why there should be no Methodist inferiority complex in New England, and he pointed out close similarity between conditions in New England today and conditions in old England when Methodism was born.

Dr. Samuel A. Eliot of the Arlington Street Unitarian Church is giving prophetic. He is giving American life with an eye to the future.

DUDLEY BAPTIST 10
An earlier hour than usual has been set for the opening of morning services at the Dudley Baptist Church tomorrow to make way for an extra musical program. Not only will there be special music, but the choir itself, of 100, will sing. The service will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday, May 3. The service will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday, May 3.

DR. ELIOT ON EDUCATION
"Looking Up and Lifting Up" has been chosen as a theme for Dr. Samuel A. Eliot's morning sermon on Sunday, May 3, at the Dudley Baptist Church. Dr. Eliot will pay special attention to Gen. Samuel G. Armstrong, the first principal of Hampton Institute.

RESCUE CULTURE
Dr. A. Z. Conrad of the Park St. Church tomorrow morning has announced a sermon on "Haling the Back-Town and Break-Down of American Culture." In the evening his sermon topic is "The Impenitence and Intensity of the Impenitent." At the evening service he will also answer several hotly serious questions: "Does popular education fulfill the expectations of its founder?" "Does the faith of the future lie in the industrial revolution?" "Is not truth a growing reality?" "Does any great man have a sense of duty and wrong?" "Does God wait to be asked before he gives?"

"NEAR-SIGHTED PEOPLE"
A third sermon in a series by the Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher at Tremont Temple tomorrow will deal with "Near-Sighted, Far-Sighted and Cross-Eyed People."

The first anniversary of the pastorate of Dr. Brougher will be celebrated at all of the services tomorrow.

At 10:25 a.m. Dr. Erwood T. Eaton will preside and greetings will be brought to the pastor by Deacon Leonard H. Rhodes of the church and Dr. Hugh A. West of the Baptist denomination. The choir will sing Dr. Brougher's special anthem, "In Every One There's a Christ." by MacPartians. The pastor will sing "The Church in the Wilderness" by F. H. Brougher's sermon will be on the subject "Life in High School." A large and inspiring communion service is planned; two new deacons will be installed and Bible presented to them, and new members will be welcomed.

Elms employees who desire to run for office in the P. C. A. must have nominations completed and posted by May 25. The election will take place on June 5. The slate to be drawn up by the employees is as follows: President, vice-president, and treasurer; eight for the clubhouse committee, and two candidates each for council and arbitration board for the odd section, 1 to 10, inclusive.

The nominating committee is composed of William J. Lett, head of the Elms, and Joseph J. Lett, chairman; Ethel Brooks, training director; May, Burns, miss; Harold Bros, staff assistant to Mr. Fisher, and Hiram McGuire, clerk.

STATIONERS' OUTING
Gow W. Hart, of the Joseph Dixon Co., is chairman of the committee appointed to arrange the annual outing of the Boston Stationers' Association on June 4. A golf tournament, with the Carleton Ink Co. cup as the chief prize, will be the afternoon event, to be followed by a dinner and dancing.

Other members of the committee on arrangements are A. F. Rehban, of Blake and Rehban Co.; L. G. Paddock, American Clip Co.; W. H. Brown, of the Brown Co.; W. H. Rice, Samuel Ward Co.; Miss Jean Chaplin, L. E. Waterman Co.; Frank Horst, of the Horst Co.; C. M. T. Bennett, William M. T. McAdams Co.; and William Driscoll, Carters Ink Co.

EXHIBIT EXTENDED
Because of the interest shown in the model rooms in the new model libraries during Better Homes Week, these displays, lent by retail stores, will be held over another week. Miss Fannie Goldstein, chairman, announced.

President Felix Verenberg, of Gish and Miss Doren, with that for that store, operated with the library committee in furnishing a model "garden home" with a few of the musical numbers in tomorrow's service. The program will be: "My Soul," by Sparks, "Gloria," by Buzi-Peace, "Sanctus," by Gounod, "Thine Be to God," by Gounod, and "My Jesus, I Love Thee," by Gordon.

UNCONSCIOUS HUMOR
Edward F. P. Burns, head of the firm of that name, tells this one on himself. He was measuring a man for a pair of trousers the other day and asked himself if he wore a bit all the time. "Very seriously the customer replied: 'No, sir, only when I have my pants on.'"

OUTING PLANNED
Plans for the annual outing of the Clyde Association in July will be discussed at a meeting of that organization at Dunster's restaurant. Leo Sachs is president; Arthur Haffner, vice-president; Benjamin Shatt, treasurer, and Frank Barlow, secretary, all of Dunster's.

BERTHA HARRINGTON WEBS
Miss Bertha Harrington of the merchandise office staff of Conner's returned to business as Mrs. William Conner, after a week's vacation from the store. She became the bride of Officer Conner at the 17, West Roxbury, in a quiet ceremony last week.

M. N. SMITH BACK
M. N. Smith, president of Smith Patterson Co., returned to his desk yesterday, having arrived from his Southern winter residence on Thursday.

O'CONNELL TO SPEAK
Pres. P. A. O'Connell of Slattery's will deliver an address on "Customer Returns" at the National Retail Dry Goods Association convention in Washington, D. C., on May 27. He is chairman of the committee in charge of the five informal dinner meetings for delegates during the evening of May 25.

MISS LINEAR SHIFED
Miss Anna Liniger, personal secretary to Senator McCall, has been transferred to the Cambridge store in the same capacity. Mrs. Lavina Glover has been promoted to replace her in the Fenway store.

STORE SNAPSHOTS

The new stage show at the Holiday Hotel, holds promise for another entertaining bill. Jazz acts are staged. Kelly will make her vaudeville debut in a special act with Eddie Koss at the piano.

A team of backfakes comes, Fredrick Kerv and Joel McGee, to put it across. The directorial staff will play a major part in the show. Kelly will make her vaudeville debut in a special act with Eddie Koss at the piano.

Constance Bennett the Star
Constance Bennett again shines on the current screen, her new vehicle being "Born to Love," now at RKO Keith's. Her role gives the star full opportunity for "acting" and for wearing gorgeous clothes gorgeously, and she will play a major part in the show.

The story is sentimental melodrama with a war touch, and is not strongly motivated, so that it takes Miss Bennett's acting, with the aid of good actors like Paul Cavanagh, Anthony Bushell, Fredrick Kerv and Joel McGee, to put it across. The directorial staff will play a major part in the show. Kelly will make her vaudeville debut in a special act with Eddie Koss at the piano.

Constance, as a war nurse, falls in love with a young soldier.

POLICE NAB BOY BURGLAR GAGS BATTLE OVER SPOILS

MIDNIGHT FIGHT LEADS BOYS IN QUINCY COURT

Youths Chose Same Night to Plunder House; Loot Is Hijacked

The story of a midnight struggle between two gangs of youthful housebreakers for loot from a house they chose to plunder on the same night was told in Quincy court today.

Four of the accused youths were held in $10,000 on charges of breaking and entering and larceny. They are Andrew Ryan, 17, of Phillips st., Francis Hurley, 18, of Neponset ave., and John Mahoney, 18, of Howe st., all of Quincy, and William Haffman, 19, of Dorchester.

According to police, the conflicting schedules of the two gangs brought Ryan, Hurley and one of the juveniles to the house slightly in advance of the second group. From the lawn Haffman, Mahoney and the other juvenile watched the first gang go through the house, collecting valuables in a handbag by torchlight. The officers testified.

The handbag was left in the kitchen, according to the police, and the second gang seized it and fled, pursued by Ryan and Hurley. The "hijackers" were overhauled by the original intruders and a short struggle ensued, after which the rival group compromised on a division of the plunder, according to the police version.

$50,000 BLAZE IN WALPOLE

East Walpole, May 2.—Fire swept through the Home Building Co. structure in the business district of East Walpole early today, causing damage estimated at $50,000 to five stores and the postoffice.

One fireman, Thomas Grane, was overcome by smoke and taken to Newwood hospital. Fire broke out in the basement of the two-story wooden structure and spread to the first floor, where it swept through the Fruit News store, First National grocery store, Harrington lunchroom, a barber shop, the Neponset market, and the postoffice.

Firemen prevented the flames from igniting a 75-foot clock tower on the building but the assembly hall on the second floor was damaged.

The building is owned by Bird & Sons, roofing concern.

Fire officials today were unable to determine the cause of the blaze.

POPE RECEIVES JOHN CIFRINO

John Cifrino, Dorchester merchant, today was granted a private audience with Pope Pius, according to dispatches from Vatican City.

Cifrino, who came to America as a penniless immigrant boy, is an owner of the United Markets, Inc., which recently took over the stock of the bankrupt E. E. Gray chain of stores.

In 1920 he was made a Chevalier by King Victor Emmanuel of Italy. He is a leader in civic and philanthropic circles.

Pope Pius also granted a private audience to Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Harriman, of New York City, now residents of Paris. They were presented by Monsignor Francis J. Spellman of Boston.

Greeted by Pope

Berlin, Paris and Moscow reported parades, speeches and marching.

They can parade and speech over here too. But they're got to do both at the same time.

It all seems very mutual. A Red hates you because you're working. And in this kind of weather you hate a Red because he ain't working.

There was one incident which may be described as a historical anachronism. A Red got swatted with a night club in the day time.

London was also lachrymose. It's all right to squander your feet in a parade but distance lends no enchantment to lunies.

Some trouble in Hong Kong. But that's a Red of another color.

And as usual last night's setting saw nothing accomplished, nothing done. Which any professional gambler will describe as a perfect day.

PRISONER TRIES SUICIDE IN CELL

Frank Burlingame of Cotuit, serving a four-year sentence in State prison for burglary, tried suicide today in his cell by cutting his wrist with a razor blade, according to Warden James L. Hogen.

Burlingame was removed to the prison hospital, where three attendants closed the wound in his left wrist. When prison officials talked with him, Burlingame declined to give any reason for his act.

He was taken to the prison Feb. 11, last, being sentenced from Plymouth county for breaking, entering and larceny.

Shortly before 4 a. m. today, while making his last count of the prison cells, Night Officer John Hughes noticed blood flowing under the door of the cell occupied by Burlingame. In the cell he found Burlingame outstretched on his cot with his left wrist over the edge and blood flowing from the wound.

Burlingame was arrested in Plymouth for thefts from the home of Mrs. Rebecca Dickinson. Most of the stolen articles were later recovered after pawn tickets were found in Burlingame's possession.

Austrian Fascist Leader Resigns

Vienna, May 2 (IN3)—Prince Rudiger von Stahrenberg, leader of the Austrian Heimwehr, resigned from that post today. His resignation was believed to herald a serious split in the ranks of the Austrian Fascists. At head of the militant organization, Prince von Stahrenberg has long been one of the chief workers for the Fascist cause in this country.

May Day Steady, Closes Quiet

Only excitement May Day was when a Red fell off a park bench.

It was a beautiful day and we went around looking for an agitator who needed an assistant leader.

Berlin, Paris and Moscow reported parades, speeches and marching.

They can parade and speech over here too. But they're got to do both at the same time.

It all seems very mutual. A Red hates you because you're working. And in this kind of weather you hate a Red because he ain't working.

PEACE AHEAD IN THE FIGHT OVER REDISTRICTING

That an agreement will be reached on redistricting the Massachusetts congressional districts satisfactory to the Legislature and Governor J. J. was forecast yesterday by Wendell D. Howe, secretary of the special committee handling the problem.

In a statement given out, Howe said:

"My attention has been called to a newspaper article relative to the redistricting of the commonwealth into congressional districts which is alleged to have emanated from Amos L. Taylor, chairman of the Republican State Committee."

"Neither the plan nor the procedure mentioned are under consideration by the joint special committee on congressional districts, of which Mr. Taylor does not happen to be a member."

"Although as secretary of the committee, I am not authorized to speak for it, I am violating no confidence by saying that the subcommittee, which for six weeks has been engaged in the preliminary collecting work, has every prospect of reaching a harmonious agreement that the final plan agreed upon will receive the approval of only the main committee, but of the two houses of the Legislature and the Governor."

2 British Warships to Visit Germany

London, May 2 (AP)—For the first time in 17 years a British naval unit will visit Germany this summer. The admiralty announced today it had accepted an invitation from the German government and that H. M. S. Dorsetshire and Norfolk would pay a unofficial call at Kiel from July 4 to July 11.

BOY HERO KEEPS HIS 'PLEDGE'

Washington, May 2 (AP)—Bryan United, 13-year-old Colorado boy visiting President Hoover, refused to be induced by White House correspondents today because he had promised to give his immediate aid of his visit to the Denver Post.

Theodore Joslin, secretary to the President, who had made arrangements for an interview, announced that the boy felt he should give his story to that paper and that he had promised his father he would.

While here has been given out through official channels and no one attached to the White House has been allowed to talk about what did or "anything he said."

Joslin announced the boy would be home for his home tonight or tomorrow.

MAN SAVES PET KITTEEN IN FIRE

After escaping from his smoke-filled apartment early today, Gus Rohari, 46 Summer st. circle, Lynn, dashed back into the house and rescued a puppy, Roodie, and a kitten, Toby.

Firemen, who tried unsuccessfully to prevent him returning to the house, followed him in and helped him out with the pets, which he found huddled together.

The fire started from undetermined cause, on the second floor.

QUEEN, SICK, AT BEDSIDE OF PRINCE

Bucharest, May 2 (AP)—Although stricken with a slight attack of fever, Queen Helen today hovered over the bedside of Crown Prince Michael, who has a diptheria.

The mother was given an injection of anti-toxin to protect her. She scoffed at her indisposition, which was a consequence of the protective treatment, and refused to leave the boy.

The sudden illness of their only child was described as a strong inducement to end the estrangement of King Carol and his wife. They have conversed several times in the ante-chamber of the sickroom and the monarch has telephoned her for news of the boy's condition at nearly every hour of the day.

A reassuring report issued later indicated the lad was progressing favorably.

Garment for Office and Country

By ANN ARDEN

TO BE dandied and stylish enough for a Saturday morning's work and still dressed up a bit for a trip to the country over the week-end—that is an ideal close to the heart of every business woman.

WORK OUT the problem early enough in the early spring and your troubles in this direction are very nearly over for the whole holiday season. These thinner weaves of wool, lacy and open in texture, seem especially designed to play this part when you come to think it over. Utter simplicity being their ideal expression, nothing could be more adequate for the workaday duties that a Saturday morning presents. Then, taking their tweedy look into due consideration, what could be more suitable for a dash into the open spaces?

TO US, the most interesting coats are those that do unique and flatter things with their felt fabric collars. There is nothing stereotyped in them—they give you an unusual feeling for your own individual quirk and twist.

CONTRAST is amusingly portrayed in the season's styles. In the midst of a simple, yet is utterly feminine it is dropped an occasional informal style that swaggers with a boyish air. Lacey pockets on country or sports coats are examples of trend. Tweeds and informal woollens are pocketed largely and handsomely. Sometimes, indeed, a suit will wear four pockets on its coat. The coachman's coat is an example of this style.

THE COAT pictured is well adapted for travel, spectator sports, or general knockabout use. A loosely woven tweed of golden yellow, green, and brown, the coat is semi-fitted and has a slight flare. Its side button closing and cavalier cuffs are marked by matching bow buttons. The belt is closely stitched, as is the adjustable cinched back side front. The coat is brown, coat spotted with brown, the sailor hat brown rough straw, the gloves are brown, and the capacious bag brown belted.

PELICANS have always formerly been famous for their translucent beaks—but now they are receiving a new sort of tribute. A calf treated to resemble the rough, irregular surface peculiar to pelicans. It seems—now fashions some of the smartest handbags of the moment. They may be in light colors that go well with your spring costumes.

ANN ARDEN will answer questions concerning clothes, social customs of fashions generally, and the latest news of the Boston Evening American or the Boston Sunday Advertiser or the Boston Herald.

Afghanistan in Big Industrial Activity

Quetta, Baluchistan, May 2 (AP)—An industrial revolution for Afghanistan was foreboded today by the arrival of Europe of a large consignment of machinery enroute to the north. King Nadir has ordered the shipment to carry out his plans for a cotton weaving and spinning mill at Kabul, the capital, paper manufacturing plants at Jalalabad and woolen mills at Kandahar.

Blind Boy, 15, Dies While Under Knife

Philadelphia, May 2 (AP)—William Rubin, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rubin of Detroit Mich., died here last night while undergoing an operation for the restoration of his sight.

The operation was being performed by Dr. George H. Moore, who recently restored the sight of Earl Mueselman, the youth of Allentown, Pa., who had been blind from birth.

$8000 Fire Loss on Barrington Farm

Great Barrington, May 2 (AP)—The large, farm barn owned by James Strick, three miles east of this town, with 13 head of cattle and one farm horse were destroyed by fire early today. Firemen succeeded in saving the farmhouse, occupied by the Strick family, although the building caught fire on the roof. The loss was about $8000.

Pastor Sues for Building Church

Danbury, Ct., May 2 (HNS)—Rev. John Hakin, pastor of the Syrian Church of St. George here, today filed a $500 suit against trustees of the church for services rendered by him in the construction of the church building.

The pastor is a carpenter by trade and in his suit declares he did much of the actual building work and took compensation for it.

Engagement Ring Is Not a "Public Ceremony"

I am to be engaged very soon on my birthday. We are going to have a large affair. My fiancé is rather timid and I am not sure what is proper to say at the occasion of giving me the ring at the table, and he is afraid to make any statement that he may be sure will be correct? S. W.

I am sure that your fiancé would be relieved if I should suggest that I tell him that it is better for him to give you the ring when you two are alone, rather than in the presence of a gathering of the kind. Why not do this? It is the correct form really to give the ring in this "public" way. It is usually given when the two people most concerned are alone together, and then, on the occasion of the announcement party, the girl gives the ring on her hand and the announcement is to be made.

It Isn't the Ring That Makes the Difference

DEAR MRS. BEECIMAN

1—"A" says that it is not proper to announce formally an engagement if a ring is not given. "B" says it is all right, who is right?

2—What is the correct form to use in making the announcement?

H. L.

1—"B" is right. It isn't the ring that makes the difference. It is the fact of the engagement."

2—Usually the announcement of an engagement is very informal. The bride-to-be tells the bride-to-be in a friendly way, and the bride-to-be tells the bride-to-be in a friendly way, and the bride-to-be tells the bride-to-be in a friendly way.

SOCIETY BRIDE

By HOPEY KNICKERBOCKER

New York May 2 (US)—Mrs. Frederick Lathrop Ames shipped one over on society yesterday.

Without making any previous announcement of her romantic intentions, Mrs. Ames, one of the renowned Cyster tripe of other days, became the bride of Roger W. Cutler of Boston, at the apartment of her daughter, Mrs. Howard G. Cushing, 233 E. 57th st.

The wedding ceremony was a distinct surprise to the elect of Gotham, Boston and Newport, for it was not until they appeared at the municipal building and applied for a license to wed did their secret leak out.

The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Dr. J. Edgar Hoover at the telephone at the Cushing apartment was constantly in use, due to the bride's many friends phoning to offer congratulations before she left. Mr. Cutler embarked for Bermuda, where they will honeymoon for a month.

Only the members of the family and a few intimates were present at the ceremony. The wedding was in marked contrast to the great aerial hub-bub at the time South became the bride of the late Lathrop Ames of Boston, more than a quarter of a century ago.

At the time of her marriage, Mrs. Ames was a social leader, who was married in New York in New York to Roger W. Cutler, Boston broker.

In any case, it is not good form to send the engraved announcement that she was somewhat near about, and, alas, she was not.

Plate for Boston Stone

Editor Boston American:

Now that summer is not far off and we will welcome once more heat of summer visitors to the Hub, may I suggest that the historic stone now imbedded in a building on Marshall st., be described by a plate giving information of the origin of this stone and what it meant in Colonial times.

Hypocrites Scored

Editor Boston American:

There is much that is wrong in society today.

Let us not blame individuals. From the criminal up through the hypocrite, there will be found the cause in legalized sin. All men are victims of faults in our economic, political, religious and social systems.

Let us move with caution and show the men who understand these things the way to redemption. Except for this temporary depression man is far better off today than at any time in the past and is infinitely better off than he will be if we seriously impair the functioning of our political and economic machinery. We must, however, be ruthless when we come in contact with hypocrites in power, whether it be capitalistic, democratic, intellectual or physical power.

The "eyes of the needle" is larger in 1931 than it was nearly 200 years ago.

News Item—
"Members of San Francisco's police department are to study orderly in the public schools under orders from Chief of Police Quinn, who believes considerable benefit will result from improving the police of the city's policemen and their mode of addressing the public."

So in the course of time maybe we'll hear something like this after pulling over to the curb
"Unaccounted as I am to dealing with criminals, I feel, fellow citizens, that I have a message for you. However, before we touch on this matter, the importance of which I trust you will not doubt, I must ask you a question. Just where in the line? Now, to make a long story short, I would like to outline for your benefit some of the circumstances and conditions under which we drive upon the public highway and touch upon a few of the problems we must take into consideration when so doing. It is my belief, and that of every sensible person, I am sure you will agree, that these streets, constructed at the expense of the taxpayers and kept in condition by the municipal department organized for that purpose, are for the use of all the people. However, even in our fair city it is a pleasure, I believe, that there are certain undesirable who, by their reckless, wanton and destructive acts upon these streets, make it desirable that they be dealt with in no uncertain manner. . . and if you have anything to say in rebuttal, expatiate to the judiciary."

Bertrand Russell says that everyone who contemplates writing a first novel should be given six months to jell.
It might be better to make everyone in jail read a first novel.

Maybe there's a substitute for capital punishment in the idea.

However, the nice thing about capital punishment is that the suffering is over quickly, while reading a first novel is slow torture.

Says Genet, the kinko-cynic—
"A lota men ought kiss, instead of aus the fella they accuse of alienating the affections of the wife."

Financial Market News, Stocks, Bonds, Commodities and Comment

FINANCIAL NEWS TODAY'S NEWS OF LIVE STOCKS IN WALL STREET

More cheerful sentiment prevailed in Wall Street today, as most of the list began to rally, although it was evident that traders were largely buying on speculation. Without declaring the bear market had been largely broken, the fact that recent action had displayed all the symptoms that mark the last stages of bear market was not denied.

Less Importance Put on Rumors
Wall Street today placed small importance on the rumor that the Federal Reserve bank had been floating through the market the week. These rumors revolved about the possibility of an important change in the Federal Reserve bank here and there, the taking over of certain holdings by powerful financial interests, and the resumption of investment in new combinations. When traced to their source, these rumors were found to be entirely untrue.

"Double Bottom"
In line with market tradition, the stock market today set a new "double bottom" before rallying, moving about a point to a new low, then retracing a point of its 1927 bottom.

Aburn Retains Old-Time "Kick"
Aburn retained its old-time "kick" today, as the market moved up. The market today set a new "double bottom" before rallying, moving about a point to a new low, then retracing a point of its 1927 bottom.

STOCK MARKET EASIER EARLY DECLINES

New York, May 2.—Prices bobbed up and down erratically on the stock market today, but the market closed with early declines generally eliminated. Stock net gains as appeared were mostly nominal.

The trading was highly professional, but buyers proceeded rather cautiously and the heaviness of the first hour was interrupted by surges of covering. The heat advanced came in the late trading.

Utilities were mixed although generally higher at the finish. Electric Bond & Share gained a point, but United Light & A. was under pressure and lost 1/4.

Hudson held up well, as it did during Friday's late selling. Utilities Power & Light firmed moderately. Vacuum Oil had several spells of weakness, breaking below 14.

The net loss was fractional. Standard of Indiana continued to reflect buying and selling interest. Indiana Service closed steady.

Specialties were irregular. However, they succeeded in reducing or raising early points.

Aburn & C. moved up nearly a point during the final hour, ending at 14 1/2. Aburn & C. moved up nearly a point during the final hour, ending at 14 1/2.

Bond Market Trend Irregularly Lower
New York, May 2.—The bond market trended irregularly today. Trading was quiet. The turnover in government bonds was small, but the trend was plainly downward.

Butte Again in Red
Butte Copper & Zinc reports for quarter ended March 31 net loss of $2300 after expenses and taxes against net loss of $1893 in first quarter of 1928.

Rubber Is Quiet

ACUTE STOCKS THE WALL STREET

New York, May 9—Relief from Friday's violent selling was furnished by the short week-end session and after dipping to 100 points, the market recovered.

The steel, copper, and railroad stocks were unsettled at the opening of heavy selling. New York Central, United States Steel, American Steel and Wire, and American Lumber all declined.

The rally which started early in second hour carried through to the close. United States Steel closed a point higher, American Steel a point higher, and American Lumber a point higher.

At the close, United States Steel was 100 1/2, American Steel 101 1/2, and American Lumber 102 1/2. The market was 100 points higher than at the opening.
